LAWSON WINS A FEATURE EVENT

Aided by Pye and Hehr He
Smashes the Two-Mile
Record.

M'CORMACK TAKES DASH BARDGETT AND PARTNER WIN PURSUIT RACE.

Pulled like a rocket through a scattered field of sprinters by Paddy Hehr and Ernie Pye, Ivor Lawson last night won the title of two-mile "western champion." The time 2:40.2.5 breaks not only the two-mile lap record, but the handicap record for two miles. The former open lap record was held by Lawson at 2:43, made July 13 this year. The handicap record is also held by Lawson at 2:41, made July 27, 1906.

The race was a pretty sight from the start, with the lap man setting a stiff pace from the back of the field. After the mile, about half of the twenty starters had dropped out. Here Williams, pulling Walker, tried to lead the bunch, but Williams' speed was not enough and down and Walker could not hold on. Walker dropped down to the pole and rode Hehr so close to the cement that Paddy stuck out his arm and shoved Walker up the bank. Walker claimed a foul, but it was not granted.

Two and a half laps to go Hehr was leading, pulling Pye, who in turn had Lawson. With Hardy Downing hanging on to the former champion, with Hopper fifth. A far to go Hehr had pulled himself out and Pye sailed by with Lawson, who "protected" his man in great shape, staying off an attack from Downing in the rear. The finish was Lawson, Pye, Downing and Hopper.

Downing Protests.

After the race Downing entered a protest against the three-man combination and the rest were pulled to light and many of the fans sided with him. With Hehr and Pye pulling Lawson at the rate the three are traveling now, it is pretty near a cinch for Lawson to be first and one of the others second. The officials don't seem very anxious to limit the teams to two men, they should.

Not in interest came the quarter-mile western championship, amateur, which went like all the other amateur championships have gone so far, with "Burglar" McCormack first. The Burglar will soon be given credit for having other ability than a clear head. The time of 25.4 was within one-fifth of a second of the record. Lawson added excitement to the race in the spilt of Jack Hume, who fell heavily just upon entering the race. Hume, from high up on the bank, had the best of the start and led by two lengths for the first lap. Bardgett and Hopper, until the back stretch, when McCormack and Wright closed the gap with the surprising speed of the Burglar, tied Hume's front tire on the home turn and was going by when Hume's pedal broke and he fell down and he pitched. Hume was uninjured.

The match team pursuit was easy for Bardgett and Hehr, against Wells and Hopper. Bardgett and Hehr, with their teammate and used good judgment against an uncertain and decidedly backing-broncho race set by Wells and Hopper. Hehr won both the half-mile and three-quarter mile heats, Hopper pushing him close the last heat.

Too Much Handicap.

The front combination had everything its own in the mile handicap, professional, and it pulled down all the money. Nesbitt, Burris, Crebs and Carslake finishing in that order. The time of 1:46.4.5 easily explains why the scratch men could not get up.

The Broadbeck and McCormack team performed in nice shape in the five-mile open, amateur, the Burglar "shooting" in Broadbeck's hands, second, leaving third to Wright. At that, Broadbeck rode a fast race.

Tuesday night will see Whittier and Samuelson fight it out again for the motor license. The race will be in three heats, two heats at two miles with the pole split and one heat at one mile. There will also be a five-mile western championship for the professionals.

The annual western championship, amateur, McCormack, Wright, Diefenbacher, McCarthy, time, 28.4.5. Five-mile handicap, amateur, Broadbeck, McCormack, Wright, Mayer, time, 16.8.5.5.

One mile handicap, professional—Nesbitt (100), Burris (90), Crebs (80), Carslake (75), time, 1:46.4.5.

Two mile open western championship, professional—Lawson, time, 2:40.2.5. Hopper, time, 2:40.2.5 (record).

Match team race—Hehr and Bardgett first, times of heat, times of 5:55.2.5, three-quarter mile 1:32.2.5.

RIFLE TEAM AT CAMP PERRY ON RANGE

Good Scores Reported for the
U. N. G. Boys—Expect to Win Prizes.

That the members of the Utah National Guard rifle team are making fine scores on the rifle range at Camp Perry, O., was the message flashed to Salt Lake yesterday by Adjutant General E. A. Wedgwood, who accompanied them. The Utah boys worked on the range yesterday and will have another trial today before the international competitions start Monday. The team of twelve men has not yet been picked, but will be named by Captain Wedgwood after the practice firing today. The two men showing the poorest scores will be named as alternates. Only fourteen men made up the Utah team, as Corporal E. Van Cott of the First battery was not considered eligible.

The Utah team will shoot in the third or "class C" division this year, owing to the record of the team last year. Utah made her first showing at a national meet when a team was sent east in 1906. The Utah team was fourth from the last, which was considered a good showing, owing to lack of practice here. This year the boys have had better advantage chiefly because they were coached by Lieutenant Ned Green of the Fifteenth infantry, one of the best marksmen in the world, and had a whole week together as a team on the Fort Douglas range. The record of the team was far better than a year ago, and it is believed that they will come near to the top of the third class or may even jump into the second class.

Cash prizes and medals have been offered by congress as inducements to national guardsmen for better rifle work, and it is confidently expected that the Utah boys will capture some of these prizes.

The international rifle competition, in which representatives from every branch of the war department will compete, will begin Monday and last at least two days.
